“Whatever you do for the least of my brothers and sisters, you do for me.” (Matthew 25:40) How does your Social Justice experience with SPOON relate with this verse. Why do you think you do service projects-would you do this even if you weren’t Catholic/if this wasn’t a Catholic social teaching?

Matthew 25:40 is one of my favorite verses because it reminds me how everyone deserves equal love. While Catholicism has certainly shaped me, I think the desire to serve is inherently human; Social Justice is an important concept that goes across all ethnicities, religions, ages, and socioeconomic status. I enjoy volunteering with SPOON because volunteering is like exercising--actively doing something is the best way to keep yourself strongly connected to the community, and the more you do it, the more natural and integrated it becomes in your life.

--Natalie

For a college student, waking up at 6:30 am is not typically desirable. But when we’re all in the kitchen together, I remember why I decided to give up a couple hours of sleep. For me, there’s a certain sense of fellowship that goes along with the SPOON experience; I get the opportunity to spend time with other students working together toward a common goal. There’s an understanding that everyone who cooks and serves feels a need to do something, and not to be complacent with the inequalities that exist. As part of Catholic social teaching, I feel like all of us SPOON volunteers were an extension of Jesus Christ. But whether or not service projects are a part of Catholic social teaching, I believe I would still participate. That our faith can frame the service experience in the light of Jesus’ teachings only gives me more reason to do so.

--Clarice

It relates to this verse since I am committing time to cook which will benefit the less fortunate. Although they might be strangers, I remember that we are all part of the human community and Gods’ children. And so doing a good deed is helping God’s family, our family, especially those that need the most help. I do service projects because they are fun, fulfilling when you make someone’s day, but also engaging to learn about issues that are overshadowed by daily life. Moreover, I feel that I get more in return than what I give, whether it be a growth experience, friendship, or new perspective on life.

--Edwin

Cooking eggs, bacon, and pancakes with good friends isn’t really much of a sacrifice, even if it does entail getting up at six in the morning. As such, making breakfast for the Palo Alto Opportunity Center this past weekend didn’t really seem like much of a big deal. “Social Justice” is a big phrase, if not for its number of syllables then for all the ideas that it entails. Yeah, this is a crazy, screwed-up world, but we don’t need to be paralyzed by the number of things that are wrong or feel bad because we’re not working full-time shifts at orphanages in third world countries. The littlest things - like making a breakfast for people who are struggling - is an action on the part of those “least of my brothers and sisters”. It takes an effort to realize that even that littlest time or treasure that we give of ourselves is a triumph on the part of love.

--Peter

Spring Break Trip to El Salvador:

From Friday, March 23 to Friday, March 30, Father Isaiah and 12 students from CC@S will be in El Salvador for Spring Break. They will travel all over the country in order to see how the Church positively influenced the people affected by the Civil War. As of last Wednesday, CC@S & the team have jointly raised over $14,426 of the $20,800 needed for our trip. (You may recall that our previous goal was $16,000. This goal was based on a smaller team. Also, this year, we had acquired unexpected budget changes.) If you would like to make a last-minute donation, or if you have any questions, contact Fr Isaiah.

We welcome anyone who is interested in joining the choir, serving as lectors, greeters, altar servers, or eucharistic ministers. If you've managed to survive the first quarter at Stanford and can now think about the REST of your life, please contact Teresa, tpleins@stanford.edu. ### Catholic Conference, March 23-25, 2012:

You are invited to prayerfully consider joining us at the largest annual gathering of Catholics in the nation! This year, Lourdes and a group from the Catholic Community at Stanford will travel to Anaheim, CA for the the 2012 Religious Education Congress. Learn about a variety of topics offered by nearly 200 speakers ranging from personal growth to theological topics. Experience liturgies representing a variety of cultures and traditions. Enjoy entertainment from a variety of Christian artists, composers, and filmmakers. The 3-day conference is open to all who wish to learn more about the Catholic faith or seek personal growth. Registration for RECongress 2012 is only $70 and there will be additional expenses for lodging and transportation. For more information and to register, please visit <http://recongress.org/>. Lourdes Alonso will coordinate carpools and provide information on lodging.

We welcome any assistance with contacts in the Los Angeles area that could help provide housing. Please email Lourdes if you have any questions at lalonso@stanford.edu.

Student Stewardship Matching Gift Challenge:

At the beginning of Lent, we offered a challenge to Stanford students to re-commit themselves to their faith community by signing up as recurring donors and having their annual gifts matched dollar-for-dollar up $5,000. Well, our outstanding community of students has met that challenge! But we don't want to leave anyone out! Luckily, several more generous members of our community have come forward and raised the challenge amount to $6,000. If you have not had a chance to join our Living Faith Society, please sign up at <https://catholic.stanford.edu/giving/treasure>. Thank you for your commitment to CC@S!

Stanford Historical Society presents:

Finding Its Place: The Catholic Community at Stanford

Tuesday, April 17, 4:30pm, The Sanctuary, Old Union
Stanford University

Moderator: Nancy Greenfield, Chaplain

Foundations: Fr. Nathan Castle, O.P., Pastor/Director, 2010.

Our heritage lives on: come hear about our journey as a community at Stanford: April 17, 4:30, Sanctuary, Old Union.

Nancy Greenfield, long term chaplain and program organizer, will introduce and moderate a program with fellow Catholic Community leaders, each highlighting a different aspects of a common history, followed by further discussion with the audience.

Fr. Nathan Castle will comment on the early decades when Catholic students formed clubs and University-Church relations developed in a relative harmony that was to be undermined as Catholics and other denominations faced strict limits on their campus activities. The slow resolution of those difficulties and the establishment of St. Ann's/ Newman Center in Palo Alto coincide with Prof. Barbara Gelpi's arrival at Stanford, where she and her family found St. Ann's to be flourishing center of spirituality, service, and social conscience. It gradually became clear that a move to the central campus would allow greater numbers of students to participate. Because liturgy and music have always been at the core of the Community no matter which place served as home, no historical reflections would be complete without Teresa Pleins, who will focus on the development of creative liturgies, choral programs, and her corresponding work as a chaplain since 1995. Peter Salazar will end with comments on how the past meets the present in the life of an undergraduate member of the Catholic Community.

"Finding its Place: The Catholic Community at Stanford." Program presented by the Stanford Historical Society, planned jointly with CCAS. For further information contact Mary Jane Parrine, parrine@stanford.edu

Confiteor

I confess to almighty God
and to you, my brothers and sisters,
that I have greatly sinned,
in my thoughts and in my words,
in what I have done and in what I have failed to do,
through my fault, through my fault,
through my most grievous fault;
therefore I ask blessed Mary ever-Virgin,
all the Angels and Saints,
and you, my brothers and sisters,
to pray for me to the Lord our God.

“Once you were in darkness, but now in the Lord you are light. Live as children of the light!”

Gospel Acclamation Missa Oecumenica

Gospel John 9:1-41

Jesus healed the man born blind.

Apostle's Creed

I believe in God,
the Father almighty, Creator of heaven and earth,
and in Jesus Christ, his only Son, our Lord,
who was conceived by the Holy Spirit,
born of the Virgin Mary,
suffered under Pontius Pilate,
was crucified, died and was buried;
he descended into hell;
on the third day he rose again from the dead;
he ascended into heaven,
and is seated at the right hand of God,
the Father almighty;
from there he will come to judge
the living and the dead.

I believe in the Holy Spirit,
the holy catholic Church,
the communion of saints,
the forgiveness of sins,
the resurrection of the body,
and life everlasting. Amen.

By the waters, the waters of Babylon,
 We sat down and wept, and wept for you Sion.

How can we sing the Lord's song
 Upon an alien soil?

If I forget you, O Jerusalem,
 Let my right hand forget its skill.

Let my tongue cleave to the roof of my mouth,
 If I do not remember you.

O Jerusalem, if you are not above my highest joy,
 O let me never sing again.

We remember you, Sion.

At the same time, the Church is a painful place for many. How might healing in the Church proceed for people who feel hurt by the Church? Without denying or minimizing the deep pain many of us feel as Catholics, this talk, led by Lisa Fullam, will explore the question of healing. How do we proceed from here?
