fr Benedict Jonak ponders the questions raised by the Passion of Christ.

A busy shopping street in London, Berlin, New York or any other big city can show us how much freedom in fact we have. Chains of similar looking departments stores offer us a similar assortment of similar artefacts. 'Globalisation', some say, and tut. 'We are spoiled for choice' say others and they are content.

Personal liberty or the possibility of making a choice against the popular opinion are among the most valued idols of our modern western society. We build our lives in the comfort zone of the relatively stable political systems of our countries and believe that we are free. It is only that nobody seems to question what kind of freedom it is that we have and whether it is freedom at all.

Today, for the first time in Holy Week, the Passion of Christ is read out during our liturgy. It touches us to the bone. It is impossible to shut our ears to the reading of the Passion, or to attempt to acquire a 'scientific distance' while Christ's death is proclaimed by the reader, because it always resonates with strong emotions echoed by an avalanche of personal questions.

The Passion of Christ challenges my understanding of freedom.

Have I really discovered what real freedom is about?

Am I able to choose God, the Goodness itself above other goods?

Am I able to choose God and stand and defend my choice or do I proclaim him king one day only to shout the following day that I want him crucified?

The Passion of Christ brutally forces me to examine my motivations. Why am I a follower of Christ? Just as the bronze serpent raised by Moses in the desert became an outrageous but salutary challenge for the image-hating Israelites, so the dead body of Christ raised on the cross constantly challenges my dormant disbelief that God's love for me is absolutely limitless. The only barrier that I can set up on its way is that I do not choose to accept it. Am I a free person if I cannot choose love?

What motivates me if, like Peter, I deny it? Is it the crowd, the fear of the crowd or the non-existent popular opinion to which I have conveniently delegated the judgment that can only be mine?

Jesus willingly and freely chose a brutal and humiliating death so that I may live.

What a paradox! Can I not willingly and freely choose the good and loving God so that I may live?

fr Benedict Jonak is reading for a degree in Classics and Oriental Studies at Blackfriars, Oxford.

GENERAL COMMUNITY ANNOUNCEMENTS

(noon ecumenical service in Memorial Church)

Easter Vigil, April 7, 8:00pm. Memorial Church

Easter Sunday, April 8, 10:30 (Tresidder Oak Room),
4:30pm. in Memorial Church (no 10:00pm)

Eucharistic Ministers Needed for 4:30 Mass:

Our roster of eucharistic ministers has fallen short. Do you feel drawn to serving the community in this part of the liturgy? Training is provided for you. You would be scheduled approximately every 3 weeks. Contact Teresa for more information, tplains@stanford.edu.

Spring Break Trip to El Salvador:

Thank you, thank you! The El Salvador team has reached its financial goal and is fully funded. Thank you so very much for your generosity. God bless you and thank you once again!

El Salvador Service Trip - Thank you!!!

$20,800

New Training for Liturgical Ministers:

We welcome anyone who is interested in joining the choir, serving as lectors, greeters, altar servers, or eucharistic ministers. If you've managed to survive the first quarter at Stanford and can now think about the REST of your life, please contact Teresa, tplains@stanford.edu. Service can take place around your schedule. The rewards for ministry are great--serving the Lord, deepening your bond to the community, making new friends!

Charitable Giving as a means of Tax-Saving:

In most cases, an outright gift of appreciated securities entitles the donor to an income tax deduction equal to the fair market value of the securities. If you will be transferring stock or other securities to the Catholic Community at Stanford (CC@S), please be sure to notify M'Lis Berry, Director of Development, directly so that she may assist you in ensuring that the Diocese guides the funds to the CC@S parish.

Student Stewardship Matching Gift Challenge:

At the beginning of Lent, we offered a challenge to Stanford students to re-commit themselves to their faith community by signing up as recurring donors and having their annual gifts matched dollar-for-dollar up $5,000. Well, our outstanding community of students has met that challenge! But we don't want to leave anyone out! Luckily, several more generous members of our community have come forward and raised the challenge amount to $6,000. If you have not had a chance to join our Living Faith Society, please sign up at <https://catholic.stanford.edu/giving/treasure>. Thank you for your commitment to CC@S!

Stanford Historical Society presents:

Finding Its Place: The Catholic Community at Stanford

Tuesday, April 17, 4:30pm, The Sanctuary, Old Union
Stanford University

Moderator: Nancy Greenfield, Chaplain

Foundations: Fr. Nathan Castle, O.P., Pastor/Director, 2010.

Our heritage lives on: come hear about our journey as a community at Stanford: April 17, 4:30, Sanctuary, Old Union.

Nancy Greenfield, long term chaplain and program organizer, will introduce and moderate a program with fellow Catholic Community leaders, each highlighting a different aspects of a common history, followed by further discussion with the audience.

Fr. Nathan Castle will comment on the early decades when Catholic students formed clubs and University-Church relations developed in a relative harmony that was to be undermined as Catholics and other denominations faced strict limits on their campus activities. The slow resolution of those difficulties and the establishment of St. Ann's/ Newman Center in Palo Alto coincide with Prof. Barbara Gelpi's arrival at Stanford, where she and her family found St. Ann's to be flourishing center of spirituality, service, and social conscience. It gradually became clear that a move to the central campus would allow greater numbers of students to participate. Because liturgy and music have always been at the core of the Community no matter which place served as home, no historical reflections would be complete without Teresa Pleins, who will focus on the development of creative liturgies, choral programs, and her corresponding work as a chaplain since 1995. Peter Salazar will end with comments on how the past meets the present in the life of an undergraduate member of the Catholic Community.

"Finding its Place: The Catholic Community at Stanford." Program presented by the Stanford Historical Society, planned jointly with CCAS. For further information contact Mary Jane Parrine, parrine@stanford.edu

Second Reading Philippians 2:6-11

Though he was God, Jesus did not "consider equality with God something to be held tightly, but emptied himself," became human, and died on the cross. At his name every knee will bend.

Gospel Mark 14:1-15:47

The Passion of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Passion Acclamation What Wondrous Love Is This

What won-drous love is this, O my soul, O my soul?
What won-drous love is this, O my soul?

Apostle's Creed

I believe in God,
the Father almighty, Creator of heaven and earth,
and in Jesus Christ,
his only Son, our Lord,
who was conceived by the Holy Spirit,
born of the Virgin Mary,
suffered under Pontius Pilate,
was crucified, died and was buried;
he descended into hell;
on the third day he rose again from the dead;
he ascended into heaven,
and is seated at the right hand of God,
the Father almighty;
from there he will come to judge
the living and the dead.

I believe in the Holy Spirit,
the holy catholic Church,
the communion of saints,
the forgiveness of sins,
the resurrection of the body,
and life everlasting. Amen.

May 6, 2012: The Catholic Church in the World 2012: Healing in the Church 2:00pm – 4:00pm

The Church can be a place of spiritual sustenance, solace, challenge, forgiveness, and the innumerable graces that Jesus promised to those who turn to him. At the same time, the Church is a painful place for many. How might healing in the Church proceed for people who feel hurt by the Church? Without denying or minimizing the deep pain many of us feel as Catholics, this talk, led by Lisa Fullam, will explore the question of healing. How do we proceed from here?
