Fr Dermot reflects on how the life of St Peter can help each of us to see how we are called to bear the imprint of Christ.

What happens to Simon Peter in today's gospel looks like a step up. And to be honest, it is, Christ has set Peter up.

What transpires by the sea of Tiberias in the light of dawn is no accident. They have gone fishing at night on the lake, "but that night they caught nothing". St Luke tells us that on the day Simon Peter first met Jesus, after a night when they caught nothing, he was told to throw out his nets again and they landed a massive haul of fish. There and then, Peter fell down before him saying: "Depart from me, for I am a sinful man, O Lord." (Lk 5:4-10).

As they land the fish, they see a charcoal fire and on it, are fish and bread. Not so long before in the court of the high priest Peter had been warming himself at another charcoal fire and it was then that he denied Christ not once but three times and heard the cock crow (Jn 18:27) St Peter is usually shown with keys in his hand, but in ancient days he was sometimes depicted with a cockerel. At the same time the fish and the bread must have brought to mind other days by that same sea, when everyone was fed and nobody was left hungry.

St Peter's Basilica in Rome is built over the graveyard where it is thought that Peter was buried. The tradition is that Peter died in Rome as a martyr under Nero in a stadium on the Vatican hill, that he was crucified upside down and buried in a nearby graveyard. There are references in writers such as Tacitus to his tomb being a place of pilgrimage. In our time sections of that ancient graveyard have been excavated and directly under the main altar there is in fact a tomb with Peter mentioned in the graffiti on its walls. When they opened that grave they didn't find his bones. They found a mixture of bones. But nearby they found the bones of a first century man, who might have been about 60 or 70 when he died. The bones show evidence of arthritis.

I was fortunate enough to visit the tomb as a student, but after about 10 years of priestly ministry I paid a second visit. I had lived in Rome as a student but in those days I was never a pilgrim. Now despite myself I became one. Quite a lot had happened in my life between those two visits. I had baptized so many children, and adults, rejoiced with newly wed couples, danced badly at birthday parties, worked in catholic schools, filled out school references, anointed the sick and the dying, buried the dead, listened to hopes and fears, the sorrows and the joys of countless people. Sometimes rightly and sometimes wrongly, they told me off. Sometimes I felt like a sponge for their anger or frustration. Sometimes I felt used, but other times I felt privileged, honoured and loved. Directly below the massive dome of St Peter's, I saw again on the wall of his tomb the short prayers that pilgrims had scratched there: "Pray for me Peter". Only then did I know the breadth, depth and colour of those prayers. The mist had become rain in dry and ancient dust. In a little niche in the wall, enclosed in glass, were some small fragments of the bones, relics of a seventy-year-old man with arthritis who had been a fisherman, and who had ended up dying such a cruel and painful death far away from his family. I thought of Peter, the saint, who long after that first day by the shore of the sea, had grown old and had stretched out his hands, to be bound and taken somewhere he would rather not go. Those ancient bones reminded me of so many faithful people, I have had the joy of knowing. Peter knew failure and what it is to fish all night and catch nothing. He knew the smell of the charcoal fire. He knew in his bones that his strength was in Christ alone. He knew what it was to be marked with the sign of faith.

And so if this scene in the gospel is a set up, it is a set up in love. Christ says to him three times, "Do you love me?" And then and only then, "Follow me".

....remember the time

Before the wax hardened,

When everyone was like a seal.

Each of us bears the imprint

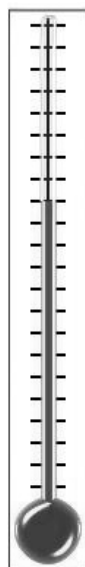

Of a friend met along the way;

In each the trace of each. 1

May we who are what we become, be graced by the trace of his love in our hearts.

GENERAL COMMUNITY ANNOUNCEMENTS

Confirmation:

We will celebrate Confirmation at the 4:30 Mass, today, Sunday, April 14.
Alexa Andaya, Alisa Cho, Jessica Shelby Guenther, Peter Madson, Jesús A Solís.

Undergrads and Choir Members Retreat:

Into Belonging. Undergrads and members of the choir are invited to join us for a Spring Retreat to Point Montara Lighthouse on the cliffs of the ocean the weekend of April 19-21. We will explore the theme of "Belonging" while we listen to talks, spend time in prayer, and relax with others in our community. The cost is only $40 and the retreat is only a few days away so we ask you to sign up this week through our website or in person with Lourdes.

Upcoming Baptisms:

Our community will celebrate infant baptisms at the 4:30 Mass in Memorial Church on May 5. If you are affiliated with the University or a registered member of the community and would like to have your child baptized, please contact Teresa Pleins immediately, tpleins@stanford.edu. There is a required parent preparation class on Saturday, April 27, 10-11:30 a.m. in the Old Union Common Room. The next scheduled baptisms are on Sunday, July 21.

Vatican II Class: The Reform of Ordained Ministry: New Questions For Women:

Monday, April 15, 2013 - 7:00pm - 9:00pm, Pigott 113

One of the most interesting decisions made by Vatican II was to restore the permanent diaconate. This seemingly simple move was in fact the most dramatic change in the understanding of ordination since the Council of Lateran IV in 1215. We will explore why this was such a radical move, the earlier understanding of orders that Vatican revived, and, most interestingly, what this would mean for the revival of the ordination of women in the Catholic Church.

Back-to-School Backpacks for Needy Children:

The Catholic Community at Stanford is hosting a Family Giving Tree Back-to-School Backpack Drive for needy children from low-income families. On Sundays during the months of April, May, June, and July, please bring new backpacks filled with school supplies for needy children in grades K-12. You may also purchase a backpack/supplies online at the following URL: <http://vgt.familygivingtree.org/ccas/>. (Please do not purchase red or blue colored backpacks as these colors are associated with gangs). For a list of needed supplies by grade level please see Peter Barling after Mass at the table in the front of Memorial Church. You can also go to the following URL: <http://www.familygivingtree.org/images/collateral/BTScard.pdf> for lists of supplies by grade level. Please tag your donated backpacks with the appropriate grade level.

SAVE YOUR BLOOD!

The Catholic Community at Stanford is hosting a blood drive next month through the Stanford Blood Center! As we transition out of the season of Lent, we remember the life-giving blood that Jesus Christ gave for us. By giving our blood we commemorate our Savior's ultimate sacrifice as well as help save the lives of others.

Date: Sunday, May 5, 2013, Time: 11:30-4 pm, Location: Bloodmobile parked on Santa Theresa St. behind Tresidder Union. The entire process of blood donation takes approximately one hour. Your donation can provide hope and help save the life of a patient in a local hospital. Participate in giving the gift of life! To schedule an appointment or for more information please contact Natalie Hernandez at nawitime@stanford.edu. Please visit bloodcenter.stanford.edu for detailed donation information. If you have traveled outside of the country, please call 888-723-7831 to check your eligibility before scheduling an appointment.

Gospel Acc. Alleluia: Our God Is Speaking D Haas

Gospel John 21:1-19

Peter and the disciples fished all night but caught nothing. Jesus appeared to them, telling them to cast their nets again, and immediately the nets were filled with fish. After they ate, Jesus told Simon Peter, "Feed my lambs. . . Tend my sheep."

Apostle's Creed

I believe in God,
 the Father almighty, Creator of heaven and earth,
 and in Jesus Christ,
 his only Son, our Lord,
 who was conceived by the Holy Spirit,
 born of the Virgin Mary,
 suffered under Pontius Pilate,
 was crucified, died and was buried;
 he descended into hell;
 on the third day he rose again from the dead;
 he ascended into heaven,
 and is seated at the right hand of God,
 the Father almighty;
 from there he will come to judge
 the living and the dead.

I believe in the Holy Spirit,
 the holy catholic Church,
 the communion of saints,
 the forgiveness of sins,
 the resurrection of the body,
 and life everlasting. Amen.
