Dear Prayer Partner, please pray for:

Good News About You!

Gallup has a wonderful book called "Living Your Strengths", and by using a unique code in the book you can take an online inventory that identifies your top 5 signature talents. Each person is richly blessed. You are using these talents even now, but people often don't recognize what their talents are and misuse them. With knowledge and practice you can turn those talents into strengths, i.e. near perfect performance. "Strength Finders" is also a wonderful way of learning how to understand and appreciate others.

time or another. Let's explore how you can use your talents in leadership.

My proposal is simple. I would be willing to conduct in your homes mini-workshops. Gather a small group of permanent community members or just friends, and at a time convenient for your group, I would lead you in taking the inventory and in applying the results. We would meet three or four times, and explore!

We would investigate your leadership talents. Everyone is a leader at one

a way of life

Sunday, September 14, 2014

Jesus was in many ways the ultimate example of humility. Yet, humility is not a trait that is highly thought of in our society. We live in a world where independence and relying on no one else is considered to be a high form of expression. For the past few weeks, our second readings have been drawn from St. Paul's letter to the Philippians. Most of the New Testament consists of letters (epistles). Philippi was a major city in Macedonia, which is part of Greece. When Paul evangelized there, it is believed that it was his first venture into what we consider today to be Europe. Paul felt a warmth and closeness to the Philippians, and that is demonstrated in his letter to them.

It is nonetheless his appeal to them as a community that provides us with an important stewardship message in today's reading. St. Paul says, "...humbly regard others as more important than yourselves." This is a direct reference to how Jesus lived. If we lived in a community where everyone else regarded each of us as more important (everyone else looked up to us; and we in turn looked up to everyone else), what a community it would be. Each of us would be elevated, lifted up by all those around us. What the result would be is an unbelievable sense of unity. That is what Paul calls the Philippians to, and it is what Jesus calls us to through stewardship.

International Day of Peace vigil:

"Faith and violence are incompatible." These words of Pope Francis concisely describe the motivation and goal of Pace e Bene's Campaign for Nonviolence, "a long-term movement to build a culture of peace by mainstreaming active nonviolence—and by joining with people, organizations, and movements everywhere in the long-term nonviolent struggle to abolish war, end poverty, reverse climate change, and challenge all violence." Culminating the campaign's first year, religious groups, peace organizations, and others throughout the country will, during the week of September 20 - 28, sponsor talks and films, hold workshops, and perform acts of nonviolent witness to teach and promote peace in our world, our nation, our communities, and our individual lives. Locally, the campaign will kick off with an International Day of Peace vigil in Lytton Plaza, followed during the week by sessions on such topics as poverty and structural violence, nonviolence and Judaism, a youth workshop on conscientious objection, eco-justice, refugees, locally produced weapons of mass destruction, to name some. Apostle’s Creed

I believe in God, the Father almighty, Creator of heaven and earth, and in Jesus Christ, his only Son, our Lord, who was conceived by the Holy Spirit, born of the Virgin Mary, suffered under Pontius Pilate, was crucified, died and was buried; he descended into hell; on the third day he rose again from the dead; he ascended into heaven, and is seated at the right hand of God, the Father almighty; from there he will come to judge the living and the dead.

I believe in the Holy Spirit, the holy catholic Church, the communion of saints, the forgiveness of sins, the resurrection of the body, and life everlasting. Amen.
